

Proofreading a Story

REMEMBER After writing something, it is a good idea to read it through to make sure there are no mistakes.

This is the beginning of a story. Read it through, correcting the spelling mistakes and adding in the punctuation marks and capital letters.

it was a very sunnee dai so kate and isabel went to playland fairground they went on a very big rollercoaster whee screamed kate as they whizzed rownd the bends i feel sik complained isabel next they went on the spinning teacups woo showted kate as they spun in the cups i feel dizzee moaned isabel then they went on the river rapids yay yelled kate as they splashed in the boat i am soaking wet cryed isabel

There are 19 missing capital letters, 10 missing full stops, 7 missing commas, 12 missing speech marks (6 pairs), 4 missing exclamation marks and 9 spelling mistakes!

What do you think might happen next? Continue the story on the lines.

By: _____